NOT ON YOUR LIFE.

ESMERALDA COUNTY is patting itself on the back, if such a physical paradox can be said to be possible, but the statement must be taken in a metaphorical sense, as the people of Goldfield have been flattering themselves that they have taken a huge slice out of the Tonopah mineral belt for the purpose of adding it to their tax roll. Nothing is further from the truth. They are shouting from their housetops too early in the game, and when it comes to a showdown they will discover that they lost what little they had in this district by having the boundary lines shoved back to the south and east for a distance that leaves out the best property of the district which Esmeralda county claimed for assessment purposes. To make this clear to the satisfaction of Nye county taxpayers who may be misled by the specious claims of Esmeralda, it may be specifically stated that the exemption of four sections created by the statute providing for the resurvey of the disputed boundaries includes the old high school, 99 per cent of the known mining area under actual development and the two landmarks known as Mount Brounger and Butler Buttes.

If Esmeralda county is capable of extracting a morsel of comfort from this statement the people of that county are welcome to the situation.

A CURE FOR TYPHOID.

AN OUNCE of prevention may be worth a pound of cure, but when prevention has been neglected it ceases to be a measure of value. Modern science has made it possible to avoid almost any disease if proper precautions are taken, but just as there are many persons who refuse to submit to vaccination against smallpox, there are thousands who refuse or forget to be vaccinated against typhoid fever. There are times when the cure is more important than prevention.

Heretofore most of the campaign against typhoid has been along the line of prevention. Here the medical men were eminently successful, but once the disease seized an individual little could be done. Life or death depended upon the vitality of the patient. Medicine was virtually powerless to do more than partially allay the suffering incident to the disease.

For this reason the announcement by Dr. George R. Carson of the Southern Pacific hospital service, that he is on the high road to perfecting a typhoid cure, is one of the most important advances in medicine in a decade. Thus far the cure is in the experimental stages, but it has been successful in hundreds of cases, and there remains only the standardization of serum and application before it can be given to the world to be used wherever the dread typhoid germ is found.

The discovery is another triumph for the research laboratory. Even if Dr. Carson has not perfected his cure, his announcement will cause scores of other scientists to take up the work along the same line, experimenting and checking until the last problem is solved. So it will be with a typhoid cure as with the diphtheria anti-toxin, and at last with cures for all the miserable plagues of mankind.

The avarice of the American express companies has lost them another good set of customers. Cobalt bullion shipments have been going to New York, but the Canadian express companies found they could deliver the ingots cheaper in London than the American companies were charging for delivery in New York. If this suicidal system continues the express companies might as well turn over their business to Uncle Sam to be operated for the good of the people, instead of for the enrichment of the few.

The Congregational church has gone on record as opposed to the liquor traffic and the heirs of Adolphus Busch are worrying over how they are going to dispose of the $75,000,000 bequeathed by the St. Louis brewer. It looks as though prohibition does not prohibit.

Taxes are due next week, when the property owners and corporations of every county must come to the front with their little contribution to pay salaries and expenses that never seem to grow less. When the commissioners are trying to economize they might take a day off to frame suggestions for the next legislature to retrench. This would not impose a very great burden on them and the recommendations would meet with the unanimous approval of the people.

Reno is one of the few cities that pays tribute to a private corporation for its supply of water and then cannot guarantee the purity of the supply. This is the foundation of a new suggestion of some individuals to build and equip a municipal plant with a capacity of 4,000,000 gallons daily. This supply might do for ordinary purposes, but when it comes to washday Reno would be a dry town.

New brooms are proverbial for clean work, but it required more than a stretch of democratic imagination to visit Lake Tahoe and compel the boatmen to equip their craft with fog whistles when such a thing as a fog has never been seen in that altitude.

How the fingers of the Yankee tars in Vera Cruz harbor must itch for a single broadside at the Huerta followers. A straight knock-down fist fight would probably settle it as quickly as any other way.
